

Fishing Report - Monday 27th May 2024

The weather has played a major part in the fishing this week. Its been good to see that anglers are adapting to the changeable weather conditions. Both floating and sinking lines are working well with fish being caught on either method. Many anglers are finding that they are moving spot regularly to find the pods of fish. So the message is certainly not to stay in one area for too long if you are not finding or catching then move location.

The fish have now started to move into slightly deeper water away from the margins with the mouth of Fish tail creek, buoys 7 and 4 being of particular interest.

With the water levels maintaining at such a high level and the deveopment of tree and plant life around the water, we are seeing a fantastic hatch of natural life. Popular flies have been buzzers, nymphs, bloodworms, beetles and black & green lures.

We have had a busy week with the England Fly Fishing Association visiting us for social days and competitions between their association members and the Bowlanders. They experienced all sorts of weather which made fishing conditions changeable throughout the week. Their matches were all fished on catch and release with fish all being recorded on length measurement instead of weight. Most fish caught were recored 42 – 50 cm. The EFFA were pleased with their result to become overall winners against the Bowlanders with a difference of 7 fish caught helping towards their 363cm advantage in fish length.

Friday was a day of rest for our resident trout with only a few boats out with a few DCAC anglers catching well on a variety of snakes and buzzers.

Saturday saw Coppenhall Fly Fishers competing against each other with 10 boats overall most catching and weighing their 4 fish.

Sunday was a little quieter in view of the weather forecast. The Mateer pair caught 8 fish on a Di3 just off buoy 4 and Brown Ale bay. We also welcomed a couple of new anglers to the waterr who braved the thunder and hail during the afernoon. Their catch level was low but they throughly enjoyed their visit.
